FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LOCAL CLEANING COMPANY PARTNERS WITH A NONPROFIT

Brighton, MI – February 29, 2023 – Newly established, Clover Clean, LLC, owned by Samantha Hughes, has partnered with Cleaning for a Reason, an international nonprofit serving cancer patients through free home cleaning. Hughes’ personal experience with her mother’s cancer journey has played a significant role in her decision to support this cause.

“I chose to partner with Cleaning for a Reason, because my mother is a breast cancer survivor,” said Hughes. “Our family understands how important a clean home is to recovery and wellness. Being able to help someone in the community who is going through a similar experience is something very meaningful to me.”

For Hughes, serving others is also a core value for her company. “Growing a team that will support each other and our community is about creating a dream team. Work is not just about work, but also about the connections and relationships that we build with one another. We are honored to have an ongoing process to support cancer patients in our community in their hour of need.”

Through partnership with Cleaning for a Reason, Clover Clean assists cancer patients by cleaning two homes per month for two consecutive months free of charge. This will be an ongoing service to cancer patients residing in Livingston County and the surrounding areas.
