

Livingston County Pheasants Forever Youth Hunt Celebrated as a Success

In a great display of community camaraderie and conservation efforts, the Livingston County Pheasants Forever Youth Hunt unfolded as a resounding success this past weekend. Young hunters, mentors, and conservationists gathered in enthusiastic spirits to participate in this event held at Variety Farms Game Preserve in Livingston County.

Hosted by the Livingston County Pheasants Forever, an organization dedicated to wildlife habitat preservation and fostering the next generation of conservationists, the event drew in an impressive number of young participants eager to experience the thrill of the hunt.

After lunch and the safety talk, several youth hunters accompanied by mentors and volunteers, took to the fields in pursuit of pheasants. The event aimed not only to introduce youngsters to the joys of hunting but also to instill in them a deep appreciation for wildlife conservation and habitat stewardship. The event emphasized safety, sportsmanship, and ethical hunting practices, ensuring that each participant gained valuable knowledge and unforgettable memories.

The success of the event was not solely measured by the number of pheasants harvested but by the invaluable lessons imparted to the next generation of hunters and conservationists. Participants learned about habitat preservation, the importance of wildlife management, and the role they can play in safeguarding the environment for future generations.

Shane Preston, President of the Livingston County Pheasants Forever chapter, hailed the event as a significant triumph. "The turnout and the passion exhibited by these young hunters are a testament to the bright future of conservation efforts in our community. We are thrilled to see the enthusiasm for preserving our wildlife and natural habitats."

The next major event for the Chapter is the Annual Banquet on February 16th, 2024 at Crystal Gardens. Tickets are available at www.pf465.com.
