

ELOISE: POORHOUSE, ASYLUM, TB SANITORIUM

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 13
7:00PM TO 8:00PM

The Detroit area's infamous Eloise complex began in the 1830's as the Wayne County Poorhouse. By the mid-1850s, it became a psychiatric hospital and moved to modern day Westland. As the 20th century began, Eloise took on a new responsibility—caring for those with tuberculosis. Joe Oldenburg, history professor and former archivist with the Burton Historical Collection, will explain it all.
